"You know, they straightened out the Mississippi River, to make room for houses. Occasionally the river floods these places. 'Floods' is the word they use, but in fact, it is not flooding; it is remembering. All water has a perfect memory and is forever trying to get back to where it was."

Norwegian Lullaby

Hush, my baby, be still no, tears Sweetly smiling, you have no fears. Dreaming child, sleep now so safe in God, Jesus will love all children.

My mother held me in arms
Dancing with me in the meadow.
Dancing, mild, with her child.
Dancing, mild, sweetly, softly dancing.

ARTISTIC DIRECTOR NOTES

In October 2018, Sharon, Sandy, Sara and I participated in a week-long artist retreat at Tofte Lake in Ely, MN. We arrived knowing that we wanted to create some kind of performance project for One Voice that honored the water.

Throughout the week we shared silence, memories, songs, food, saunas, and dips in the lake. What emerged were stories of our ancestors, our life experiences, and our hopes for the future of our land, water and world. Our shared stories eventually became a script, a narrated concert, and now a film!

Because we were living in a pandemic, One Voice singers rehearsed all the music in weekly Zoom gatherings. Each singer then recorded their own voice part individually at home on phones, and those voice parts were edited and mixed together into songs.

In June we gathered outside to film along the Mississippi River and in several other locations that are sacred and significant to Indigenous peoples, and for queer people.

Finally, Sandy created the animation that accompanies each story and Will edited all the segments together. We invite you all to listen, learn and take action inspired by ReMembering. - Jane Ramseyer Miller
